8. DESCRIPTION AND CHARACTERISTICS OF AREA:
   Terrain rolling to hillside and hilltop covered with large oak trees. No steep grades. Land improved 75%. Deed restrictions of highest quality are enforced. Zoning single family residential. Conveniences are all readily available. Collis P. Huntington was the founder of this area and his old mansion now houses the Huntington Library and Art Gallery. It is one of the most exclusive districts in the country and merely to be a resident here presupposes a secure place in the social register. Being one of the highest grade districts and so widely known, a detailed description is unnecessary. All improvements occupy acreage estates. Many of them, in addition to the main residence, have guest houses and servants' cottages. This area is entitled to the highest rating.
