5. Description and Characteristics of Area:

Terrain: Level with no construction hazards. Land improved 60%. Conveniences are all readily available. This area, which covers the harbor town of Wilmington, contained several different grades of residential districts up to 2 years ago, when a flush oil field embracing the town was discovered. Since that time the whole district has been literally engulfed by oil wells. Older construction ranges from standard to substandard. Recent demand for housing has been so great that considerable low grade construction, financed under FHA Title I, has taken place. Owing to conditions described, population and improvements are now extremely heterogeneous, and infiltration of subversive elements is rapidly increasing. The area is now a typical oil well development and future residential desirability is non-existent and it is therefore accorded a "low red" grade.
