B. Valuation and Shrinkage between 1929 and 1936.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion among well-informed real estate and mortgage men of the city that the decline from 1929 to the middle of 1933 and the subsequent rise which has taken place, varies according to the price-level of the property. For example: the higher-priced properties of the type that are usually found in the "A" or "Best" areas suffered a decline in value of 60% between the dates mentioned and have recovered until they now have a market value of from 50 to 55% of the 1929 levels. One case was cited where a property was sold in 1929 for $31,000, resold in 1933 for $12,500 and an offer of $17,500 for the property recently refused.
